Let's Start!

How do you like your job and your workplace?

Learning Outcome:

Accurately use information about travel and vacations in social situations.

Ask your partner:

- What do you enjoy most about your job or workplace?
- What is the most challenging part of your job?

Can Do Statements:

- I can talk about work routines.
- I can ask for and give instructions.
- I can ask for information and targeted clarifications.
- I can show interest when talking to a stranger.

Let's Explore!

Peter and Vanessa chit-chat* about their jobs.

*Peter and Vanessa "chit-chat" about their jobs.

Instructions: Read the dialogue aloud.

- Peter: So, Vanessa, how long should I cook my pasta?
- Vanessa: No more than 10 minutes. I familiarized myself with many new recipes.
- Peter: That's good to hear. Tell me more.
- Vanessa: Well, every week I love creating unique dishes for the first time. How's work going for you?
- Peter: Well, it's really challenging but satisfying too.
- Vanessa: Hmmm, maybe you need to ask what the manager expects.
- Peter: We must be productive every week and report to the manager every Friday.
- Vanessa: Sounds tough. I asked Daniel about his family life. Now I feel less pressure. You need to ask your boss some casual questions.
- Peter: Oh, yeah? Like what?
- Vanessa: At lunchtime, you should ask him about his kids and his leisure activities.
- Peter: Yeah! Every morning I see him at the cafe. I'll try that.

Learning Points

Expressions of Frequency

You use expressions of frequency to say how many times you do a task per period of time (day/week/month).

You ask the question: How often do you?

Expressions of Frequency	Examples
every... (day of the week)	Every Monday, we have a team meeting in the office.
on... (day of the week) nights	We hold a video conference with other branch offices on Wednesdays.
once (=one time) a week	The staff goes out for lunch once a week.
twice (=two times) a week	I report to the manager twice a week.
(#) times a month	We complete a project report two times a month.

Examples

Tom : How often do you write a report?

Sam : Once a week.

Asking for Information and Clarifications

We ask for more information to know more about how a friend's life is going. Sometimes we need to ask for targeted clarification.

Asking About Work	Asking for Targeted Clarification
How are things at _____?	Tell me more.
How's work going for you?	Can you be more specific?
How do you like your job?	Oh, yeah? Like what?
